

Week of February 22 - February 26

A look ahead..

Next week, we will continue our study of Westward Expansion and its effects. In reading, we will continue analyzing poetry and how an author constructs a poem. In writing, we will continue our opinion writing. Students will be selecting their own opinion piece to write. In math, we will finish our fraction unit by comparing fractions with different numerators and denominators using models. Most importantly, Wednesday will begin our sharing of our woodland projects! We will be meeting virtually with other grade levels to share what we have learned about the animals in our woodland.

Great work to my friends who interviewed their families this week. It was so interesting to share the different reasons that brought everyone to Grayslake!
